To the CVRD, I just read an article by COAP about the proposed bylaw amalgamation and I object strongly to the proposed bylaw regulating chickens in peoples backyards. I know you think that it is your business but it's not your business and unless they are noisy perhaps, it should stay that way. What is happening to the local government? Take a step back and look at yourselves. You're not helping people, you just make life more difficult and miserable with more and more rules. Wake up and take a look around. We live in a rural community, people expect chickens, and why shouldn't they?

I also object very strongly to the proposed RV bylaw where someone can't have a parent, a child or a friend living on their property in an RV. It's not your land and this isn't a police state (yet). For Goodness sake, where is the compassion? Where is the empathy? It's just not fair to these people, leave them alone!

You call it modernization I know, but I think that you are probably just mimicking other larger and more urban municipalities and it's completely unnecessary.

Nick Brown.
