The new proposed zoning rules are going to very much negatively affect the community. Particularly food trucks and similar vendors. It is unbelievably important to support local, as I'm sure you can agree. Particularly with the state of the world at the moment, supporting your community has never been more important. I'm sure you can understand the complete confusion then, when the new zoning laws are going to tear apart local businesses. Food trucks and vendors are such a huge part of communities, they bring in business to the area they are at, they bring foot traffic and happy people. Please reconsider the rigid rules that you want to place on food trucks and similar vendors.
