To whom it may concern

It should really be to all it concerns as this new piece of dangerous rules are not even remotely acceptable.

I purchased my 1.68 acres in the Saltair area 4 years ago with the express intention of crowing a substantial part of my food.

I own the property and as i see it I should have the clear right to use it to produce food for my security. I understand the need as in the case of roosters the need to protect other peoples peace and quiet as they can be annoying. That being said, if a chicken dies on my property i do not need a 100.00 vet bill to dispose of it.

I also dont need your interference if i wish to raise a meat animal and butcher it on my property. This is well outside of your purvue.

I also do not need anyone to decide if i can kill one of my hens to prepare for sunday dinner. That is neither your place or your right. Quite frankly its mine.

So please mind your business.

I understand the need to sort out the fact that we have a abundance of people living in rv,s and tiny homes because frankly its become so expensive to own a home.

Many really have no other choice. What exactly is your plan to deal with all of these people? Also i have children and if I should have a tragedy in their life where they loose all to cancer , workplace accident or whatever major calamity in their life and they need a place to live beside me for support till they get back on their feet. Then i also feel that's absolutely none of your business to police. How unbelievably draconian to threaten us with 50,000.00 dollar fines for each day. There is a lot more that could be said about this but the main gist is that I am completely unsupportive of this over reach and the many under handed implications it has.

Which is all veiled in some " Oh were just trying to do the best for you"crap.

Why is it not being voted on by the very citizens who pay your salary and whose lives you are trying to disrupt?

Why was it recommended to push through without public information?

There are far too many questions unanswered and it's time to table this for another day.

I oppose this vehemently and ask that you stop it immediately until far more public input has been given.
