Greetings

There are so many new bylaws listed that it is difficult to decide which ones to address. The limit of vehicles The limit of chickens, no roosters, livestock. Farm stands. The height of fencing. The fines for more than one dwelling (trailer)

The 300 plus pages of information that the average person is supposed to read, understand and discuss on their own behalf seems to be purposefully difficult to work with. The lack of public inclusion using hearings and giving clear guidelines to participate also seems intentional. I am disturbed by the lack of consideration for the population who would be affected by this consolidation of zones and rewriting of bylaws, and the overwhelming atmos-"fear" in the Cowichan Valley is unmistakably tangible.

Please do better
